

Dreams

I dream almost every night. I have a lot of dreams and I remember most of them. I'm not sure what they mean.

Some of them are quite strange. One day I'll have to buy a book on dreams and see if I can interpret them.

When I was a little kid, I had really bad dreams. Real scary ones. They were probably nightmares rather than dreams.

Usually it was some big, bad stranger chasing me. My dreams today are all very different. Sometimes I'm speaking in another language in my dream.

The ones I don't like are the ones where I'm falling. But I my dreams where I'm flying. I sometimes have really nice dreams, but then my alarm clock goes off.

I press snooze and try and get back into my dream for another ten minutes.
